The guest lecture conducted on 19-9-2018, is on Network Analysis, given by G.V.CHALAPATHI RAO Assistant professor MVSR College of Engineering, Nadergul, Hyderabad. He given II year ECE students a brief description about network simplification, Network theorems like Thevenin's, Norton's, Maximum power transfer theorems etc. He guided us to solve complicated circuits related to voltage and current sources using simple techniques and shortcuts. He quoted the importance of network analysis in GATE examinations.

He explained no. of examples in great detail which helps us a lot He also suggested some easy methods to solve the problems with in fraction of seconds. The students actively participated in this event by responding to the questions posed by the guest
